

Coordinating Your Project Utilities with State, Federal and Stimulus Funding

Training and Insight

Overland, Pacific & Cutler (OPC) will host a one-day seminar in four locations to offer you a better understanding of Utility Coordination in California, especially for projects that have state, federal or stimulus funding.

Tom Donovan will be the presenter. Mr. Donovan is a Utility Project Manager for OPC with over 25 years of career experience in successful utility coordination. Tom held the positions of Headquarters Utility Relocation Reviewer and Statewide District Utility Liaison with Caltrans.

Mr. Donovan analyzed the application of Caltrans and FHWA policy on project utility relocations. He recommended, developed or modified policy pursuant to legislative or regulatory changes and evaluated proposed legislation relative to utility relocations for probable effects on cost and scheduling of projects.

Tom provided on-the-job training to utility staff, presented training workshops and conducted field reviews. Mr. Donovan actively participated in planning studies on utility relocation impacts for major project alternatives across California and coordinated the utility relocations for a wide range of transportation projects.
